

6. Trends and Issues in Space Planning

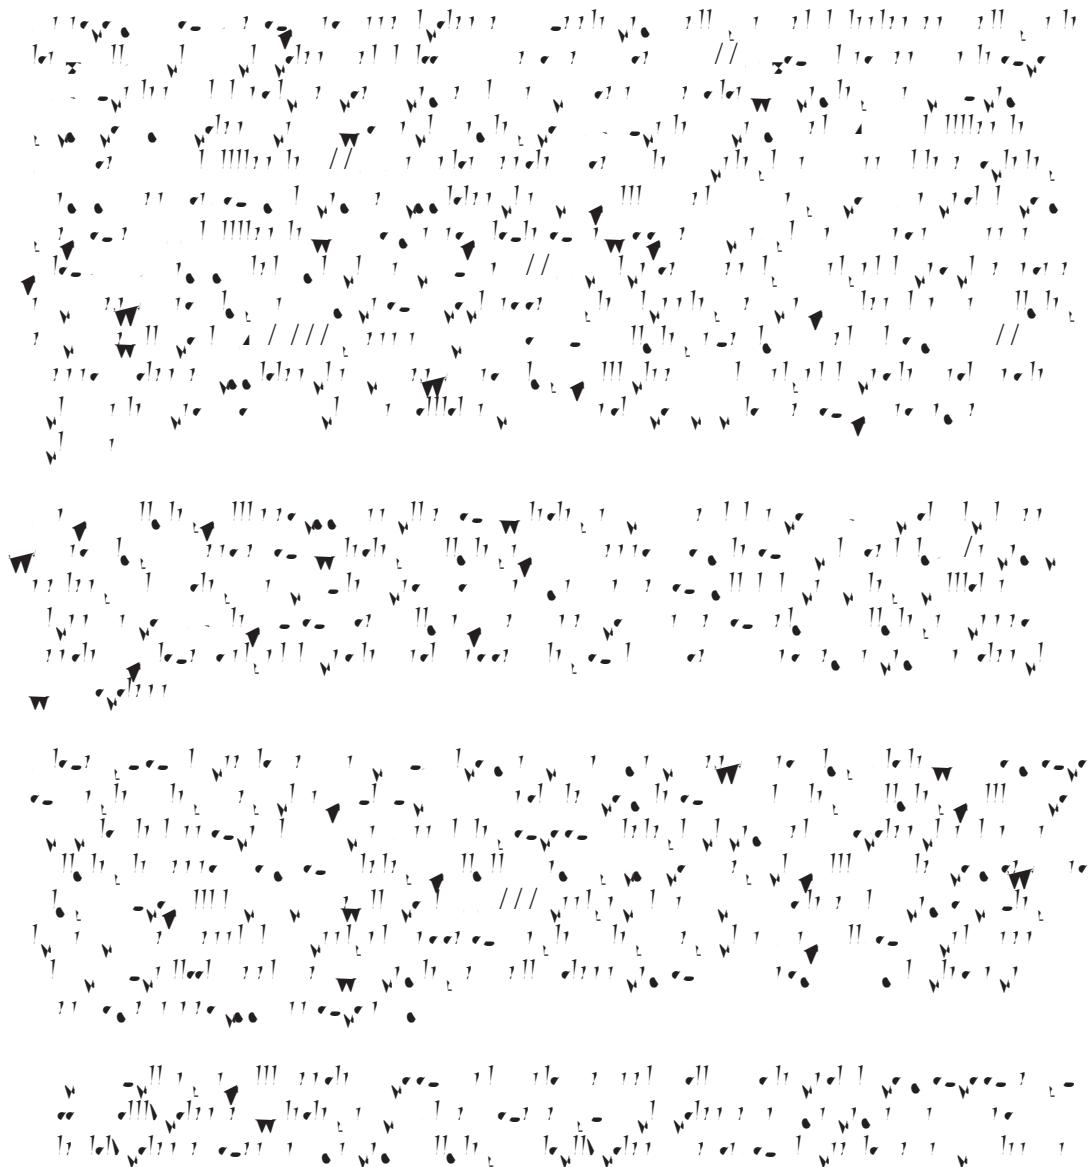

• The University of Alaska Fairbanks is a large, sprawling institution with many buildings and facilities scattered across a wide campus area.

• The buildings and facilities are often located in remote areas, far from the main campus center and other key resources.

• This can make it difficult for students and faculty to access and utilize these resources effectively.

SPACE ISSUES

• Trends in Space Planning