HSEM F601 Legal Aspects of Homeland Security and Emergency Management
3 credits Offered Fall

Homeland security and emergency management (HSEM) are heavily regulated by DHS, Executive agency guidelines and various federal and state laws and regulations. Participants in emergency planning and execution, are, themselves, subject to myriad laws and regulations ~~regulating~~ their response functions but also in the way they coordinate and interact with other responders whose authorities may differ from their own. This course examines the applicable statutory, regulatory and policy aspects regulating HSEM. It begins with an overview of the Constitution, Separation of Powers and Federalism, the foundation that defines the legal basis for federal, state, tribal and local action before, during and after emergency and contingency management. With this background, the course focuses on relevant statutes such as the Stafford Act, the Economy Act Insurrection Act, Posse Comitatus Act, and those relating to governmental and individual liability/defenses while performing emergency and contingency management. Prerequisite: Must be admitted to the MSDM program; or permission of the HSEM Program Director. (3+0)

JUSTIFICATION FOR ACTION REQUESTED

The purpose of the department and campus-wide curriculum committees is to scrutinize course change and new course applications to make sure that the quality of UAF education is not lowered as a result of the proposed change. Please address this in your response. This section needs to be self-explanatory. Use as much space as needed to fully justify the proposed course.

This course is part of the proposed new graduate program; Master of Security and Disaster Management. As indicated in the program proposal, there is increasing demand in this program from around the country as nothing like it exists.

The program and the courses proposed add to the level of critical thinking and analysis in topics that are important to leaders and managers in Homeland Security and Emergency Management fields across the board. Leaders and managers in HSEM agencies and organizations work within a framework of federal, state and local laws. Often they are implementing or interpreting changes to law. The legal environment is of critical importance to how they implement policy or coordinate with others to do so.
